

What Damages Are Available After a Truck Accident in Atlanta?

When a person is injured in a truck accident in Atlanta, talk may revolve around damages. These are accident-related expenses that can be recovered in civil court. Not all people will receive the same types of awards or the same amount.

A victim of a truck accident may be able to recover damages for:

Medical expenses that have already been paid and those that may be incurred in the future. These include expenses for hospital bills, doctor bills and therapy bills.

Property damage sustained as a result of the crash. This may include damage to the vehicle and items inside of it.

Lost wages when the victim cannot return to work. If the victim is permanently disabled, government benefits may come into play.

Funeral and burial expenses in the event that the injuries prove to be fatal. This may result in a wrongful death trucking accident claim.

Pain and suffering, which can be difficult to put a number on. A personal injury attorney will work with their client in order to show the court how the accident has impacted their ability to return to a normal life.
